9 MARCH 2025

Key Verse: Galatians 5:22-23

GETTING STARTED

When we experience God's work in our lives, the natural question is, What's next? The Holy Spirit produces fruit in us, not just for our own benefit, but to overflow into the lives of others.

- Can you recall a time when someone's kindness or patience impacted you deeply?
- Which fruit of the Spirit do you feel God is growing most in you right now?

INTO THE WORD

Read Galatians 5:16-25.

Paul describes the fruit of the Spirit as evidence of God's work in a believer. This is not something we achieve by effort alone but a result of walking closely with God.

- Read Galatians 5:16-25. What contrast does Paul make between living by the flesh and living by the Spirit?
- Why do you think Paul calls these qualities "fruit" rather than "works" or "achievements"?

GOING DEEPER

God's desire is for His Spirit to overflow in us. Spiritual growth isn't a one-time event—it's a lifelong process of returning to Him and allowing Him to work in us. Keep coming back to His presence, and He will keep producing His fruit in you.

- What are some practical ways to keep returning to God daily so His fruit can grow in your life?

- How can your overflow of love, joy, or peace impact those around you this week?
